

It is our move

As we get up and face a new day, we wonder what will be and where our country will go.

We must also understand that there will be some that will rejoice and there will be some that will be sad.

Throughout this process it is important that we take solace in what keeps our own personal world glued together. For no matter what happens at the top we will all wake up in the morning and our families and friends will always be there, today, and tomorrow to lean on and love.

We will go about our daily lives because that is what we do, that is what we must do.

We must put all our differences aside and come together as true Americans. We must remove the hate that lingers because that is the only thing that will keep this country divided.

Being an American citizen is a privilege and an honor to possess. The world is laughing at us and it is time to exercise that privilege.

This is what true Americans do

GOD BLESS AMERICA.

Your brother,
Gene
